RUMORS ABOUT GREELY.

Report That He Has Been Found
By a Whaler.

What the United States Consul at
St. John's Says—Encouraging
Views of Commodore Brown
—Other Speculations.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Navy Department has been informed that a rumor prevalent at St. John's, N. F., that the Greely party had been rescued from a mass of floating ice by the crew of a whaling schooner, a vessel mentioned in the report of the United States Consul at St. John's, says that the report is not believed there. He adds, however, that he will promptly advise the Department of any reliable information concerning the subject.

New York, April 16.—Commodore F. E. Brown was seen at the house of the Mayor in Brooklyn, where the work of fitting out the boats for the rescue of the Greely party is being pushed to a finish. He was just dressing to go out when the above dispatch was sent up to him. It seemed to amuse him greatly, for he at once came down to the drawing room, with a broad smile upon his face.

"No, sir," he began, "I have received no official word from Washington as yet, if indeed you have not seen those reports down there?" "Yes, sir, the day when the Bear is lying." "But, really, I think it is a fact, especially since a reward of $25,000 awaits him who brings directly to us a news of the Greely party. He may rely on it, when there is smoke there is fire." It would pay those whalers in New England much better to look for Greely than for seals or whales.

Washington, April 16.—The Navy Department has received from Consul Greely, at St. John's, N. F., the following telegram:

"We are expecting hourly a whaling vessel which will bring us news of the Greely party. As soon as she arrives I will telegraph the result."

Commodore Brown, Chief of the Bureau.

Navy Navigation, referring to the report said it might not be published, for it not only lacked confirmation, but was undoubtedly a yarn which would delude the friends of the Greely party and excite unfounded hopes.

Enginer Melville said he did not take the slightest stock in the report. The steamer Arctic had been unable to get through the ice, the sailing fleet, but the means of getting a rumor would have been also sufficient to have got the facts.

It was too soon in the season to discover ice floes, though some had been seen in mid-December.

Yet the report might be true, after all the doubts expressed.

The news of the rescue of the Greely party, which leads some to hope that it is the counterpart of that news.

April 16.—Commodore Sooley, of the proposed Greely Expedition, furnishes an explanation of the rumor that the Greely party has been rescued from a mass of floating ice by a whaling vessel, in the following dispatch to Secretary Standard:

"The crew of the sealor Fox were rescued by the sealer Arctic from ice floe four days ago, which probably gives rise to the rumors from St. John's of the Greely party."

Greely moved an amendment limiting the amount of indebtedness for which a petition may be filed to $500,000.

Mr. McCord, Indiana, introduced a resolution providing for a constitutional convention of two delegates from each State to meet at Washington, D. C., to consider a amendment to the Constitution, to be submitted to the States for adoption.

Pending the consideration of this amendment the Senate went into executive session and shortly afterward adjourned.

for constructing guns of iron six to thirteen inch caliber.

Mr. Bayard said this amendment was in the line of the appropriation of which he entirely approves that the United States should undertake the construction of its own armament. Economy dictated, however, that there should be preparation for this essential work. He, therefore, offered a substitute for the original amendment, presented by the Secretary of War, the Gun Foundry Board, and the Naval Advisory Board, to report at the earliest practicable time for the erection of a gun factory for the construction of guns from six inch to sixteen inch caliber.

Mr. Hale accepted the substitute, which was agreed to.

Another amendment, offered by Mr. Hale, directing the Secretary of the Navy to report to Congress next session a plan or plans for the construction of one or more ships of not exceeding 3,000 tons displacement, together with the cost of machinery and armament, time for construction, &c., was agreed to. The bill then passed.

Mr. Flagg reported the Postoffice Appropriation Bill.

The special order—the bill to provide for the establishment of a uniform system of post roads, was then read and referred, and left open for second reading.

On the motion of the Postmaster General, to increase the number of postmasters to two-thirds of the Congressional representatives in the States, having more than six representatives, Mr. Hale moved to strike out the old bankruptcy law. It was a better bill than he expected could be drawn up, but he thought they ought to have had more time to review the property of the country. While he was personally opposed to a bankruptcy law, he recommended a sensible bill in favor of it and wanted the best possible.

After some further discussion, the question of the number of commissioners was left to the discretion of court, the number, however, not to exceed the number of commissioners representing.

Mr. George moved an amendment limiting the amount of indebtedness for which a petition may be filed to $500,000.

Houses.

About 120 bills, including many private claims and pension bills, were introduced under the name of the Senate and refer to appropriations committee.

The cost of the new Custom House building up to date has been about $4,500,000, while the site itself cost $700,000.00. The cost of the new Post office building, particularly in Cincinnati, is the cost of the old Post office building in Cincinnati, up to date, has been $287,000, including repairs and alterations. The site was purchased in 1851 for $30,000.

The bill amends the existing statutes relating to the Post office and builds up the incorporation of the District was passed.

Mr. Barbour, Chairman, next called up the bill for a bridge across the Potowmack River at Thomas Island, to be constructed at a cost of $25,000. Mr. Barbour offered an amendment authorizing the purchase of the aqueduct for use as a bridge provided the same with all the rights appurtenant thereto, and that the amount appropriated for the aqueduct should be increased by $5,000.

The bill was discussed at great length and variously amended. On ordering the bill reported to the house, the vote stood 40 to 80 in favor of the amendment.

The Senate adjourned until the 1st of May.

Mr. Follett, of Indiana, introduced an amendment to appropriate $100,000 for the District of Columbia Appropriation Bill which was ordered printed and recommended.

The Chair laid before the House a message from the Postmaster General, asking for a bill to provide for the appointment of the Secretary of War to receive and file the records of the Soldiers' Relief Association, of New York, founded in 1862 and containing much valuable data for the settlement of claims of applicants. The Committee referred the bill to the Committee on Appropriations. The House then adjourned.

THE MORRISON BILL.

Action Taken By the Pennsylvania Democratic Delegation.

Washington, April 16.—The Pennsylvania Democrats and the Hays had a conference this morning and agreed upon a form of compromise respecting the Morris-Tariff Bill. The proposition is that they will accept the bill as it stands, and a "bill which will omit the horizontal line feature and provide for the correction of inequalities, defects, and errors in the existing tariff, and will make a general adjustment of customs duties, for the repeal of all internal taxes, except on spirits distilled from grain, and the abolition of all internal revenue officers, with such provisions as for a more economical collection of taxes on spirits distilled from grain.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 16.—The Countess de la Motte, wife of the late James Aron, was arraigned yesterday in the Court House yesterday, gracefully swaying a black fan. ## THE DAILY BULLETIN.

WEDNESDAY EVE., APRIL 16, 1884.

BOSHER & McCARTHY

Publishers and Proprietors,
To WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

SPRING has interviewed the birds, but failed to get a note, and so we go to work to make A winter note. The latest style and of a kind, To make old winter grand, Because you see, the petticoat, is trimmed with pins in front.

The bill to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors, at Maylick's, has passed both Houses of the Legislature.

A HANSONE came, the work of Mr. A. Series, over fifty years old, is on exhibition at Ballenger's jewelry store. It is the property of Mr. Fred Otto.

The business house of Paul Hoeffich on Market street, is to be remodeled and handsomely improved. The work we are informed will begin immediately.

At the election for councilman in the First ward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. A. A. Wadsworth, Mr. Conard Rudy was elected without opposition. Some of W. S. Frank's friends presided in voting for him but he was not a candidate.

In order to go on better on the Early Ross potatoes grown by Mr. James Curtis described recently in the BULLETIN, Mr. George Myall, of Maylick's, has sent us a Pekin duck egg that was off the blue ribbon. Honors at least easy to two Lewisham and Maylick's.

DRACY's lecture on Temperance last night was listened to by a large and interested audience. The subject to night will be "Wine and Women" and the total abstinence pledge will be presented for signatures. The lecture will be free and there will be no collection made.

The Big Show Coming.

The amusement-loving world will be glad to learn that the Sells Brothers Fifty-ease and Four-ring Circus and Menagerie will be in this city on Saturday April 26, and give performances afternoon and night. This is the largest traveling exhibition in the country, and as the bills announce, it has assumed the proportion of an "universal exposition." The proprietors have gained the enviable reputation of exhibiting all they advertise, which is a singular departure from the custom of the majority of other shows, and a sufficient recommendation to public patronage. We observe the names of many world-wide celebrities, equestrians and gymnasts, who are attached to the circus or Hippodrome, while among the marvels of zoology are a pair of full grown hippopotami, and a rhinoceros that weighs over five tons.

City Assessment.

A LITTLE temporary unpleasanliness between Mayor Janaway, Captain M. C. Hutchins and Mr. C. Blaine, at Winchester, on Monday evening, on their way to the convention at Catlettsburg, is the subject of some comment in Mayville to-day. We are not fully informed as to all the particulars, but have heard that vigorous epithets were flying at random, and that the manners of all the participants in the affair had not that repose that stamps the cast of Vere de Vere. The discussion, as we are informed, was not over the proper way of wearing a button-hole bouquet, as it was first reported, but upon a subject that was the outgrowth of the great "clawing match," held by the brethren in this city last Saturday. January and Blaine affirmed while Hutchins denied, and each end of the line was held up in an able and scientific manner, and all came off with flying colors as scholars, book-worms and philosophers. At this time while the former has not exactly cleared away, the BULLETIN—the green American peace-maker—stands with the olive branch in one hand and a hickory branch in the other. If the boys will take the former, drop in and we will open a keg of nails, if not they are welcome to the other.

FIRE AT CARLISLE.

Eight Building Valued at $45,000 Destroyed—Narrow Escape of Mrs. Dallas and Child.

About twelve o'clock last night Carlisle was visited by a destructive fire, which originated in a new building opposite the Mercury office. This building and seven or eight structures adjoining were totally destroyed, including Peal & Chapel's dry goods store; Adair's and Fritz's drug stores. Mrs. Dallas, in escaping from one of the burning houses was obliged to jump from the second story with a child in her arms. Fortunately neither was hurt, as they were caught in a feather bed held below for the purpose.

The office of the County Clerk caught fire also, but the flames were put out before any serious damage was done. The loss is estimated at about $45,000, nearly all of which is covered by insurance. One of the fire companies from Paris arrived by a special train and rendered good service. The fire was finally extinguished about eight o'clock this morning.
